Township Committee Reorganizes - Cantu Appointed Mayor

At the annual reorganization meeting held on January 2nd, Peter Cantu was sworn in for his 17th term on the Plainsboro Township Committee. Cantu was then selected by the Township Committee to serve his 44th year as mayor and began his 52nd year of elected service to the township. Joining Mayor Cantu was his wife of 62 years, Gale, and officiating the swearing in was Township Clerk, Carol Torres.

Mayor Cantu thanked the residents for reelecting him to serve on the Township Committee and expressed appreciation to the committee members for reappointing him as mayor. In addition, he thanked the township employees for their unwavering support through the years. “Over the past 50 years the township has established and implemented good, sound planning practices that have effectively served our residents and businesses, fostering our journey from a small rural community to the Plainsboro we know today,” stated Mayor Cantu. “While I’m proud of these accomplishments, the thing I am most proud of is that we are a welcoming community that celebrates our diversity and truly respects one another. These are the key values that make Plainsboro a great place to live, work, and raise a family,” stated Mayor Cantu.

Ed Yates was also sworn in for his second term as Deputy Mayor. Deputy Mayor Yates has been a member of the Township Committee since 1998, and serves as liaison for both the Planning and Community Development department and the Code Enforcement department. Deputy Mayor Yates stated, “I look forward to serving again as Deputy Mayor, as well as fulfilling my liaison roles and moving the township forward in 2024.”

Park Ranger’s Water-Filled Rescue

On the night of December 28, 2023, Park Ranger Jason Grill demonstrated exceptional courage and resourcefulness during a challenging rescue mission at the Plainsboro Preserve. Amidst severe flooding, pouring rain, and near-freezing temperatures, Ranger Grill took charge of the situation and responded to a call from the Plainsboro police about a lost individual.

Through communication efforts with the Park Ranger Division and the Plainsboro Police Department, Grill devised a plan to reach the man, who was stranded on a small flooded island along McCormack Lake. Navigating the dark trails with precision, Ranger Grill was able to reassure the terrified man, who feared for his life.

Upon reaching the man’s location, Ranger Grill plunged into rising water levels, risking his own safety to rescue the isolated individual. As they returned to the Environmental Education Center, the man expressed profound gratitude for the unwavering support. The severe flooding posed significant challenges, but Grill’s dedication ensured that everyone emerged safely.

In the face of adversity, Park Ranger Jason Grill’s courage and commitment to the well-being of our community exemplify the true spirit of Plainsboro Township. The Plainsboro Preserve, with its natural beauty, stands not only as a sanctuary for wildlife but also as a testament to the relentless spirit and continual sacrifice of those entrusted with its care.

Upon receipt of all interim approvals, construction of the bank is anticipated to begin this year.

Mornings bring songs from various song birds, and in the evenings, you will hear the different frog species calling to each other. Whether you are new to birding or have been birding for years, come enjoy the bird walks scheduled at the Preserve and at the Bulk Farm with Scott Barnes from New Jersey Audubon.

April is Earth Month! We will begin celebrating on Saturday, March 30th with our second annual Plant Swap in the morning and, newly added this year, is our Rain Barrel Workshop in the afternoon. Also, on April 13th, join us for our annual Stream and Waterways Cleanup. Volunteers can sign up to help clean up along the waterways throughout Plainsboro.

Dancing and Dessert will be moving back outside on the Preserve deck for the spring dates of April 27th, May 18th and June 8th. Plainsboro’s Pioneers

Five years ago, in 2019, Plainsboro celebrated the 100th anniversary of its incorporation as a township. The Wicoff House Museum is preparing a new temporary exhibit about the people who made it happen, called Plainsboro’s Pioneers. This exhibit is being curated not only by the museum staff, but by museum intern Emma Liu and by members of the Junior Archivists program. The exhibit will be open from April to May.

Perhaps inspired by John Hancock and perhaps the most famous signature in American history, John V. B. Wicoff gave the first and largest signature to Plainsboro’s Declaration of Purposes in 1919. Wicoff and his mother owned several hundred acres of land in Plainsboro where the Wicoff House and Plainsboro Municipal Complex currently sit. Because of his dedication and effort to incorporate Plainsboro so that the township could build its own schools, the first school built by the new township was renamed in his honor in 1975.

Other signers of the Declaration of Purposes included:

• Henry Jeffers, who served as president of the Walker-Gordon Company for decades. Jeffers invented the Rotolactor, a revolving milking machine, and a system of agricultural economics. Walker-Gordon was the largest certified-milk farm in the world by 1940.

• Frank McNamee, whose family owned the McNamee Hotel in Plainsboro. The hotel was in a building on the corner of Dey Road and Plainsboro Road which was originally built as a tavern in the 1700s.

• Isaac Barlow, who purchased the Trenton-Mercer Airport on Route 1 in 1941 and operated an air-taxi service for one year until the airport was taken over by the state for use in World War II.

Altogether, 30 people signed the Declaration of Purposes, which was submitted by Plainsboro residents to the New Jersey State Legislature. After several rounds of discussion and votes, the Legislature approved the petition and incorporated Plainsboro as a township. At the time, Plainsboro only had a population of about 500. While Plainsboro was a small community of mostly farmers in 1919, the people led interesting and varied lives. To learn more about the families who became Plainsboro’s Pioneers, visit the Wicoff House Museum. Check our website for information about the exhibit: www.wicoffhouseplainsboro.com
Building Division Updates Fee Schedule

Effective February 1st, the Code Enforcement Department’s Building Division implemented a revised fee schedule. The updated fee schedule is the result of a thorough evaluation and assessment conducted by Plainsboro Township’s Director of Code Enforcement. State regulations require that the Building Division assess permit fees that cover the cost of their operation. “Our fee schedule was last revised in 2015”, said township Code Enforcement Director Brian Miller. It’s important to note that no adjustment was made for the regulations that significantly changed in 2018, omitting permit requirements for things such as roofing and siding replacement on single-family dwellings. Additionally, permit fees for certain plumbing and electrical work were also eliminated due to the regulatory changes in 2018. Please visit www.plainsboronj.com for more information or call 609-799-0909, ext. 2545.

Eco Engineers: The Beavers of Plainsboro

Beavers, often referred to as nature’s engineers, serve as keystone species in our local habitats. A keystone species is one that has a drastic impact on the ecosystem relative to its abundance. Their activities, particularly the construction of dams, create wetland environments that offer a multitude of ecological benefits. However, as with any cohabitation, conflicts arise from their continuous efforts.

One of the most distinctive features of beavers is their remarkable teeth. Beavers have large, sharp incisors that grow continuously—an important adaptation for a creature whose diet consists mainly of inner bark, branches, and aquatic plants. Another notable feature is their distinctive appearance. Weighing in as the largest living rodents in North America, beavers have a stout body covered in brown fur, webbed hind feet, and a broad, flat tail.

The core of a beaver’s impact on the ecosystem resides in its instinctual ability to build dams. Beavers use their teeth to fell trees and then gather branches, mud, and stones. These materials are strategically woven together to create barriers across streams, forming ponds that serve as both shelter and a reliable food source. As beavers dam the stream, the surrounding area floods, creating a haven for various plant and animal species and contributing to increased biodiversity and healthier ecosystems. These wetlands create an ideal habitat for various waterfowl species, amphibians, and other semi-aquatic mammals. Additionally, the wetlands that beavers create act as natural filters, trapping sediments and pollutants from the water.

The rapid population growth and extensive dam-building activities of beavers can lead to costly conflicts, particularly in urban areas. Beaver activity may result in damage to civil structures, such as roads and culverts, and can lead to flooding of farms, homes, and businesses. To address these challenges, it is essential to implement effective management strategies. The intent of management strategies is to maximize the ecological benefits provided by beavers while minimizing potential conflicts.

Interested in spotting beavers, or evidence of beavers in Plainsboro? Simply look for dams, lodges and freshly chewed trees along the banks of Mill Pond, Cranbury Brook, and at the Plainsboro Preserve. These markings are telltale signs of the presence of these nocturnal architects.

Detective Justin Kowalczyk was named Plainsboro Township Police Department’s 2023 Officer of the Year. Kowalczyk was nominated by his Sergeant and received the most votes from his fellow officers in recognition of his tremendous efforts throughout the year, and over the course of his career.

Kowalczyk is currently in his 9th year as a Plainsboro police officer and is an invaluable member of the department. He is known throughout the law enforcement community for his high standard of performance and commitment to teamwork.

Additionally, the combination of his high ethical standards and vast experience enable him to be an excellent mentor to fellow officers. He is highly respected by those with whom he comes in contact, and is an exemplary role model to others in the police department. Moreover, his demonstrated efforts greatly reflect his concern for the safety and well-being of the local and community at large, and has been an asset to Plainsboro.

Township Committeeeman and Department of Public Safety Liaison Neil Lewis stated, “On behalf of the Township Committee, it’s a pleasure to congratulate Detective Kowalczyk on winning 2023 Officer of the Year. Detective Kowalczyk has provided a high level of service to our community and is certainly deserving of this honor.”

A Seasonal Reminder About Drugs and Alcohol

Prom and graduation season are a time of celebration and achievement, but for some families it can also become a time of mourning. According to a study conducted by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 37 people die daily in the United States from driving under the influence. Each year, during the months of May and June, alcohol and drug-related fatalities increase among people aged 17 to 24. Please talk to your teens about the dangers of impaired driving, binge drinking, and using illegal drugs.

Project Safe Roads Enhances Public Safety Throughout Town

In the fall of 2023, Chief Eamon Blanchard of the Plainsboro Township Police Department announced Project Safe Roads, an initiative to continuously make all roadways safe for motorists, bicyclists and pedestrians. This initiative began with a public messaging campaign to roll out the program and advise the public of the steps that would be taken to maintain the safety of Plainsboro roadways.

Since the announcement of Project Safe Roads, Plainsboro police officers, and their township colleagues, have worked together to make these months some of the safest on record for Plainsboro roadways. Motor vehicle accidents have been reduced by nearly 40%. Educational programs for township youth and adults have increased some 25% and roadway improvements have been made to increase the safety of those who live, work and visit Plainsboro.

Throughout 2024, police have and will continue to work on these same efforts with their township colleagues to enhance the accomplishments of 2023. The continuation of Project Safe Roads will further allow the township team to work collectively to build on their strong foundational priorities of service, community, modernization and readiness to manage our dynamic environment.

“Enhanced road and pedestrian safety remain a priority for the Plainsboro Police Department”, stated Township Committeeeman and Public Safety Liaison Neil Lewis. “Safer roads provide an opportunity for increased circulation throughout town for not only drivers, but for pedestrians and bicyclists as well.”
